

NATIONAL LAW UNIVERSITY DELHI
CENTRE ON THE DEATH PENALTY

MENTAL HEALTH RESEARCH PROJECT RENEWED CALL FOR INTERNS (MENTAL HEALTH PROFESSIONALS AND TRAINEES)

August 2, 2017

The National Law University Delhi ('University') is seeking to engage interns to work with the Centre on the Death Penalty on a research project examining the mental health status of prisoners under the sentence of death in India.

About the Centre: The Centre is established under the aegis of the National Law University Delhi and was set up in August, 2014 to undertake litigation, research and engage with stakeholders on issues related to the death penalty. The aim of the research we undertake is to generate information, through empirical and doctrinal studies, on issues affecting prisoners sentenced to death in India, analyse the developing jurisprudence on the death penalty in India and other jurisdictions, and undertake comparative research to add to the current understanding and debate around the death penalty.

The Mental Health Research Project: The Centre, in collaboration with two professors of Psychiatry, Dr. Pratima Murthy, and Dr. Sanjeev Jain and an Assistant Professor of Clinical Psychology, Dr. Gitanjali Narayanan at the National Institute of Mental Health and Neurosciences, Bangalore (NIMHANS) seeks to inquire into the mental health status of prisoners sentenced to death in India. The study has an empirical as well as a descriptive component to it. Under the Project prisoners sentenced to death in India, who are at different stages of the judicial process, will be interviewed. As part of the Project, mental health professionals and researchers from the Centre will conduct interviews with prisoners sentenced to death as well as their families. At the conclusion of the Project, a report will be published with an analysis of the findings and observations. The Project will require travelling to different prisons to interview prisoners sentenced to death and to different parts of the country to interview families of the prisoners. This Project seeks to build on the Death Penalty India Report (May 2016) that mapped the socio-economic profiles of India's death row prisoners and their interaction with the criminal justice system.

The Centre seeks to engage mental health professionals/trainees under three distinct internship
