The Organizers:

National Academy of Law Teachers (NALT), NLUD

NLUD has established National Academy of Law Teachers (NALT) to improve the quality of teaching and research in Law and other areas of social science. The NALT, since its inception, has been promoting and protecting teaching-learning methodology for the purposes of training/grooming faculty members for the quality teaching, research and curriculum development across the nation. Keeping in view, the Charter of objectives of the NALT sought to be achieved; the NALT has been organising orientation, refresher and capacity building programmes for teachers on law and social sciences courses involving professionals/ experts from India and abroad.

Centre for Transparency and Accountability in Governance (CTAG), NLUD:

The National Law University Delhi, (NLUD) established in 2008 by Act No.1 of 2008 of National Capital Territory of Delhi, is one of the premier law universities in India. The CTAG, has been established to uphold the commitment to the rule of law and good governance. The Centre focuses on sensitizing people on transparency and accountability in governance; empowering professionals/functionaries such as students, lawyers, and public officials to contribute effectively to ensure transparency and accountability in governance. It also works towards creating and promoting quality research in the area of transparency and accountability in governance.

Indian Law Institute (ILI), New Delhi

The Institute was founded in 1956 primarily with the objective of promoting and conducting legal research. The objectives of the Institute as laid down in its Memorandum of Association are to cultivate the science of law, to promote advanced studies and research in law so as to meet the social, economic and other needs of the Indian people, to promote systematization of law, to encourage and conduct investigations in legal and allied fields, to improve legal education, to impart instructions in law, and to publish studies, books, periodicals, etc.

The Institute is an autonomous body registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860. The Indian Law Institute has the requisite independence and academic freedom to carry out its objectives. The membership of the Institute is now nearly three thousand representing the persons interested in the study and advancement of law.

About the Seminar:

The legal profession in the era of liberalization, globalization, and privatization has global dimensions. Therefore our UG/PG/Ph.D. courses in law must be reformed and revised as per the mandate of the profession. Teachers involved in the legal profession who are one of the main flag bearers of legal education and research must also be equipped and empowered to teach the latest laws and with practical implications of laws to facilitate the creation of competent and independent legal professionals who can excel anywhere across the globe.

In order to facilitate and empower all the stakeholders, such as teachers, students, administrators, advocates, judges, and policy-making authorities, of legal education and research for promoting quality legal education and research in India, the National Academy for Law Teachers, & Centre for Transparency and Accountability (CTAG), National Law University Delhi (NLU) in collaboration with ILI, New Delhi are organising organize a two day ICSSR New Delhi Sponsored National Seminar on Reforms in Legal Education and Research: Contemporary Challenges and Remedies on 13-14 April 2019.

The Seminar has been designed to deliberate upon the contemporary challenges arising out of outdated course curriculums, traditional teaching-learning methodology in the form of lecture method, low quality research publications, etc, by involving all the stakeholders of legal education and research in India. Objectives of the Programme:

The following are the key objectives of the national Seminar on reforms in legal education and research:-

- 1. To identify the priority areas for improvements in legal education and research.
- 2. To identify the thrust areas in reforms in the teaching and research of the Law Teaching and Legal Research.
- 3. To critically assess the existing status of the course curriculums, examination Processes, admission, and other important parameters affecting governance in legal education and research
- 4. To discuss and analyse the viability of the introduction of reforms in Legal education and research
- 5. To sensitize teachers/legal professionals on reforms in legal education and research.
- 6. To evaluate the impact assessment of reforms in legal education and research.

Possible contribution/outcome of the Seminar

The legal profession is not confined to domestic parameters, but it has transnational jurisdictions. The legal professionals in the era of liberalisation, globalization, and privatization must be equipped with the quality education and research coupled with technological advancement to compete anywhere across the globe. Therefore the course curriculums and teaching learning methodology must empower the legal professionals to have assimilation of transnationals jurisdictional issues. The introduction of reforms in legal education and research to facilitate the creation of competent and independent legal professionals, who can contribute to the social, economic and political development of the society, would certainly augment the quality of legal professionals in India.

This Seminar is an endeavour to inquire into the existing hindrances in the governance of legal education and research by involving all the stakeholders of the legal profession. The proposed seminar will also adopt an integrated inter-disciplinary approach in the proceedings. The seminar would focus on the following contemporary challenges in legal education and research:

- a) What are the factors that have affected the quality of legal education and research?
- b) What is the nature and scope of reforms in legal education and research in India?
- c) How to introduce reforms in legal education and research for capacity building of the legal profession

The Declaration of the Seminar/recommendations of the event would also be communicated to the policy makers such as academic and research bodies, Ministry of Law and Justice, Government of India, Bar Council of India, the Supreme Court and High Courts., for making appropriate changes in the existing framework of course curriculum, examination, teaching-learning pedagogy, revival of research culture in legal education and research.
