The logo of National Law University, Delhi is composed of 3 elements: n(N), L(L) and U(U) which are interlinked by the second element (L or Law). In its totality, it represents the harmonious confluence of disparate elements (disciplines) and levels; a rule that Law and its executive, the judicial system, also performs. Individually, the "N" and "U" are downward-and upward-facing respectively, symbolising polar (and complementary) outlooks through which Law threads its way. The extension of 'L' or Law to the last level (or layer) attempts to encapsulate the concerns of social justice. The emphasis is on the rule of Law (represented by the 'L') in promoting social justice, particularly targeting those below baseline standards. Its columnar arrangement suggests an upholding of justice, equality, fraternity and human rights in all their facets in a secular democracy.

It gives me immense pleasure to present to you the Class of 2015. This is the third batch of students to graduate from our University. It has been a privilege to have mentored a group of such dynamic and motivated individuals who have been groomed to face the challenges that lie ahead.

The rigorous selection process at our University has been designed to ensure that students of the highest calibre are admitted and trained in a holistic manner, to engage with ideas and concepts related to law and the arts. Over the past four years, I have seen this batch explore its potential by demonstrating extraordinary levels of enthusiasm, dedication and commitment. The Class of 2015 does not shrink away from challenges; it sets high standards, goes on to surpass them, and raises the bar for everyone else.

Our students receive a comprehensive legal education which endows them with crucial analytical skills, and empowers them to critically evaluate laws, the functioning of the legal system and the interplay between the legal system and society. The vibrant clinical education programs and seminar courses help our students engage with the legal system through their areas of interest, ensuring that National Law University, Delhi, through the character of its instruction, remains committed to broadening the base of legal education.

The diverse interests and backgrounds of these students are reflected in their internship experiences. They have interned at leading national and international law firms, corporate houses, reputed Non-Governmental Organizations, Public Sector Undertakings, under senior litigators and the higher judiciary. I believe that through these internships, they have gained invaluable exposure which will enable them to enter the professional world.

This batch has been instrumental in furthering the reputation of the University by excelling academically as well as in various co-curricular activities such as conferences, moot court, mediation competitions, sports, and literary and debate competitions. The students of this batch strive to be responsible legal professionals, which I trust will make them loyal and committed members of your organization.

I invite you to National Law University, Delhi to interact with the students of the Class of 2015. Their presence has enriched the University and I am confident that they will positively contribute to the growth of not just the legal industry but of the nation as a whole.

With best wishes,

Belonging to one of the first few batches of a young university comes with its fair share of expectations and responsibilities, and the Class of 2015 of National Law University, Delhi has time and again stood up to the challenges. The class is a healthy mix of students hailing from various parts of India, which adds value to the learning experience that the University provides. It provides for a more diverse, engaging and enriching class. Being the third batch of the University, the students have had the opportunity of being both mentee (of the seniors) and mentor (to the juniors), as well as being leaders in the growth and development of the institution.

The class comprises of students who are not just academically inclined and committed to the highest of scholarly pursuits, but also display a voracious zeal for co-curricular activities such as Moot Court competitions, Debates, Mediation and Negotiation competitions, Model United Nations and participation in national and international conferences. Our enthusiasm also extends to the sports field where we have won numerous laurels at the national level.

The Class of 2015

Apart from having gained valuable experience and professional skills while being associated with notable advocates, law firms, corporate houses, think tanks, non-governmental organisations, we have also been instilled with a sense of social responsibility and have been working with manual scavengers and child welfare committees, providing valuable input and legal assistance to the cause. Students of the class have also been involved in policy research and have assisted in drafting various legislations and rules for the Central and Delhi governments. We have also been actively involved as research assistants for some of our professors, which involves a wide array of exposure, from empirical field work to doctrinal research.

The Class of 2015 has seen immense personal and professional growth through its journey at this University, attributable in no small part to the University itself and the infrastructure, mentorship and opportunities it works so hard to provide for its students. As we near the end of this journey, our earnest hope is that this growth shines through to you. We hope you will enjoy acquainting yourself with the Class of 2015 as much as we have enjoyed our own development over the past five years. We look forward to interacting with you.

It has been a privilege to have mentored the Class of 2015 which has multi-faceted students. The students of this batch are extremely professional but also extremely sensitive to the issues facing society. The class has taken a lead in using their legal acumen not only for legal research and scholarship but also in practical application in a day to day life of people across various sections of the society. I am sure that every student of this class has the capacity of being a technically sound and socially relevant legal professional who can be a proud possession of any organisation.

Dr. Aparna Chandra
Assistant Professor (Law) (Taught: Jurisprudence)
JD and LL.M Yale Law School

I have had the privilege of interacting closely with the Class of 2015. Getting to know the class and encouraging their intellectual growth this past year has been a distinct pleasure. Members of this class have distinguished themselves through their intellectual curiosity, skills of analysis honed by active participation in meetings and debates, and commitment to public service. Developed through working closely with various social justice initiatives, through its leadership role in a young students body, this class has already set many benchmarks and traditions which will shape this university for years to come. The Class of 2015 embodies in ample measure all the traits important for a successful career in law. We expect great things from this batch.

Dr. Anup Surendranath
Assistant Professor (Law)
(Taught: Jurisprudence and Constitutional Law)
MPhil in Law and Ph.D in Law from Oxford University

I started my career by teaching the Batch of 2015 at NLU Delhi. For a variety of reasons, there will always be a special emotional connect to the very first batch one teaches but I do believe there are some things that makes the Class of 2015 stand out as a collective. As a teacher, I thoroughly enjoyed the intensity of their intellectual curiosity and the manner in which they responded to challenges over the two semesters in which I taught them. While the quality and quantity of work expected from them in our courses was something they were not used to, their response along with their eagerness to learn was very encouraging.

Student and University Initiatives

a. Death Penalty Research Project (DPRP)
The Death Penalty Research Project is a project being carried out in collaboration with the National Legal Services Authority after such collaboration was authorised by Hon'ble Justice P-Sathasivam in his capacity as Executive Chairperson of NALSA in May 2013. It is headed by Dr. Anup Surendranath as Director. This project seeks to document the socio economic profile of India's death row prisoners. It aims to understand the background and life experiences of prisoners on death row and map their interaction with the criminal justice system at various stages. The project will also create a public accessible database of the court judgements (District Court, High Court, Supreme Court).
The first phase was undertaken during June-August 2013 and the second phase was undertaken in October 2013 -- The states that were covered were Uttar Pradesh, Bihar, Maharashtra, Karnataka, Gujarat, Tamil Nadu and Kerala wherein interviews were conducted of convicts, their families and lawyers. As per December 2013 -- we will be entering our third phase and look to cover Madhya Pradesh, Punjab, Jharkhand, Chhattisgarh, Assam, Odisha and Himachal Pradesh.

b. United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) Project
In association with UNDP and the Government of India, NLU Delhi initiated the “GOI-UNDP Access to Justice for the marginalized communities: Lawyerering for the Poor”. As part of this two-year long initiative, the volunteering students successfully registered numerous workers with the State Labour Board to ensure protection of their rights.

c. Tihar Plea Bargaining Project
NLU Delhi along with Delhi Legal Services Authority (DLSA) has undertaken a project on plea bargaining in Tihar Jail. As part of this project, the LSC will help accused through providing awareness regarding their rights and provide legal counsel. The LSC will train the students to aid the accused persons through the process of plea bargaining. The University will prepare a detailed report regarding the students, scope and feasibility of plea bargaining in India.

d. Prison Rights Advocacy
NLU Delhi conducted its pilot project for under-trial prisoners in the Tihar Central Jail, New Delhi, with the second phase taking the initiative to the districts of Dhanbad (Jharkhand) and Jaipur (Rajasthan). Driven by an honest belief in the rule of law, the students identified the prisoners who had been languishing in prison due to pending proceedings in a court of law, and secured bail for them; thereby reinstating their fundamental right to life with dignity and freedom of movement.
By taking recourse to an innovative interpretation of Section 32 of the Advocates Act, 1961, the students represented the under-trial prisoners themselves, arguing without any external legal or paralegal support. At present, the project has been successful in securing the release of over twenty two under-trial prisoners in a span of six months.

e. Reforming Delhi’s Beggary Law
The criminalisation of beggary is perhaps one of the most draconian measures across different states in India. A powerful critique has developed calling for the de-criminalisation of beggary along with the need to adopt a more inclusive and empowering approach to address beggary. Dr. Anup Surendranath is coordinating the project with a team of students under the guidance and supervision of Dr. Usha Ramanathan (Independent Law Researcher) and Mr. Mohammad Tarique (Ashoka Fellow and Founder of ‘Koshish’), in preparing a draft legislation for Delhi to replace the Bombay Prevention of Begging Act, 1959 which currently operates in Delhi. The draft is currently being considered by the Ministry of Social Welfare, Government of NCT of Delhi.
f. INSAAF

INSAAF is a student driven legal aid project initiated by National Law University, Delhi, as part of its commitment to social justice and furthering the rule of law. INSAAF is supervised by Dr. Anup Surendranath (Assistant Professor of Law) and is staffed by twenty students of the B.A., LL.B (Hons.) course. The aim is to create a framework within which students can be exposed to the working of various institutions delivering justice and those responsible for the care and protection of vulnerable groups and provide for legal aid intervention in these institutions. In pursuance of this, INSAAF has been involved in three projects since its inception in February, 2013 – a study of the Railways Magistrate’s Court at the Old Delhi Railway Station; a study on the Child Welfare Committees and Observation Homes established under the Juvenile Justice Act, 2000, wherein students have conducted frequent visits to the seven Child Welfare Committees across Delhi; and on the issue of manual scavenging in India, wherein students visited the railway stations and Delhi Jal Board offices across Delhi in order to acquire a realistic understanding of the problems faced, and the students submitted a comprehensive Draft Rules to the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment responding to the Draft Rules released by the Ministry, analyzing and suggesting changes to the Act and Draft Rules prepared by the Ministry.

g. Increasing Diversity by Increasing Access (IDIA) Project

The IDIA project was initiated to reach out to marginalized and under-represented groups, sensitize them to law as a viable career option and help interested students acquire admission to these law schools. The NLU Delhi chapter is headed by university students and many students within the university are also involved in mentoring the scholars. The University is currently in the process of setting up an IDIA-Herbert Smith Freehills bridge for the NLU Delhi chapter. ### Evaluation Criterion

At National Law University, Delhi, students are evaluated on an eight-point Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA). Evaluation is based on a series of periodic tests, semester examinations, research projects, dissertations and class presentations conducted throughout the semester.

Clinical Legal Education

Recognising that any legal education is incomplete without practical exposure, the curriculum at National Law University Delhi is the synergy of classroom teaching and clinical legal education, aimed at ensuring a stimulating and participative learning process that spans across disciplines. Our students are required to study four clinic courses which inculcate crucial skills such as drafting, conveyancing, pleading, trial advocacy and professional ethics; and are also trained in methods of alternate dispute resolution. The structure of the academic year at the University also permits students to undertake internships for the purpose of gaining professional experience.
Recruitment Process

The Recruitment Co-Ordination Committee ("RCC") has formed the rules as stated below to facilitate the process to ensure optimal flexibility to recruiters/prospective recruiters. The recruitment process can be seen as a step-by-step process.

Step One
Recruiters are encouraged to conduct Pre Placement Talks (PPT) to interested students in the University giving important information such as the profile of the organization, career prospects, compensation packages, et al. These PPTs can be conducted at any time before the Pre Interview Screening.

Step Two
Recruiters can conduct a Pre Interview Screening Process any time before Day Zero. Recruiters are free to determine their own policy for the Screening Process to shortlist students. In case the Recruiter has no particular method of pre interview screening, the Curriculum Vitae of all interested students shall be forwarded to the Recruiter.

Step Three
After the completion of Pre Interview Screening, the Recruiter shall formulate a Final Interview which shall be communicated by the Recruiter to the RCC at least 48 (forty eight) hours prior to Day Zero along with a wait list of students in case of unavailability of any Applicant who is selected in the Final Interview List is not available for the interview then the Recruiter can interview the Waitlist Candidates instead, if the Recruiter considers this appropriate. In case the Recruiter has no procedure for pre interview screening, the list of interested students shall automatically become the Final Interview List.

Step Four
The Recruiters will be required to disclose the results of their Final Interviews and any Offer made to Applicant(s) only through the RCC which will be communicated in a sealed envelope. All Recruiters need to declare the final selection results by 20:00 hours (8 pm) on the same day on which the final interviews were held. Every offer made by the Recruiter will be communicated solely by the RCC to the applicant to whom such offer was made. The RCC will revert to the Recruiter within 24 hours of receiving the sealed envelope containing the Merit List and the Offer waitlist. At no point in time will there be any communication between the Recruiter and the Applicant(s) in relation to the Offer.

Note:
The RCC is the only authorized body to formally approach and communicate with the recruiters in relation to any recruitment process involving the Class of 2015 at National Law University, Delhi.
The decision of the RCC regarding the selection of candidates at any stage of the recruitment process shall be final and binding upon all the parties involved therein.
The Recruiters are requested not to encourage any personal communication made by any Applicant. Any attempt to communicate with the Recruiter will lead to the Applicant being debarred from the Recruitment Process.
