Who we are

The National Law University Delhi is a premier law university of India that aims to evolve and impart comprehensive and interdisciplinary legal education. We aim to shape our students as instruments of change who will be equipped to address the imperatives of the new millennium while upholding constitutional values. We take pride in our effective and impact-driven research and scholarship that has brought both national and international recognition to our name.

Since inception, we have seen more than 800 graduates, who have excelled in diverse fields, such as academia, legal practice, administrative services and entrepreneurship. The University strives to become a leading world-class institution in legal studies, pedagogy and research.

Message from the Vice Chancellor Professor (Dr.) Srikrishna Deva Rao

Globally, higher education institutions have been deeply affected by the pervasive impact of the pandemic and NLU Delhi was no different. But as often happens, in the most critical of all times, we discover our resilience.

Today, I am filled with immense pride as I look back on the year gone by. I extend my gratitude to our staff, students, and alumni, who stood by the University and ensured that we continue to function without compromising on the high standards and the outstanding quality that this institution's name has become synonymous with.

This report provides an insight into the work and accomplishments of our institution, including that of our research centres, faculty and students during the past year. It is meant as a testament of our resolve and commitment to strive for excellence even during critical times.

In the last year, we forged new relationships with world renowned institutes such as the School of Oriental and African Studies, London, and Harvard Law School and we partnered with institutes of eminence such as Indian Institute of Technology, Delhi and Indian Institute of Science, Bengaluru. Our research centres such as Centre for Communication Governance, Project 39A and Centre for Innovation, Intellectual Property and Competition, among others brought global recognition to the University through their work.

Undeterred in the face of adversity, our faculty produced meaningful research and scholarship that will serve as a continuous source of pride for the University. Our students made us proud with their academic excellence and professional achievements, which speaks volumes of their talent, ambition and intellect.

As an institution, we now stand at an exciting juncture. As our next academic cycle begins, the university is ready to welcome students and staff back on campus. In this new phase, our aims are bigger and our vision, far-reaching. The testing times of the pandemic have certainly made NLU Delhi strong as a community and I am certain that we will achieve the goals we have set for ourselves.

NLU Delhi Unwinds

Though the past academic year kept our students away from campus, the NLU Delhi's cultural committee ensured that none of our students had to miss out on campus life. The Cultural Committee ingeniously utilised the online medium to ensure that a sense of communion and bonhomie amongst students was maintained.

The committee held an online Prom event specifically for the first years. The event served well for the new joiners to break the ice and familiarise themselves with each other. The students dressed up for the event, paired up and played games. They also created an online yearbook with pictures of them all.

An 'Open Mic Event' was conducted for the entire student body from across batches. The event turned out to be a huge success with performances including singing, poetry, stand-up comedy, dance videos and many more. At the end of the event, there was also an impromptu music session which was attended by all the participating students.

On the occasion of Diwali, a 'Rangoli' competition was conducted virtually. The participants were made to send-in their entries via pictures and videos. The event was judged by the faculty in-charge of the Committee and the best ones were given a cash award.

Continuing the annual tradition of organising 'Secret Santa' on Christmas, NLU Delhi's student body anonymously exchanged presents with each other. This was a great way for the students to make new friends and an opportunity for the juniors to get to know their seniors.

Sports Committee

The Sports Committee successfully organised online yoga classes for the physical and mental well being of the NLU Delhi community through the pandemic.

Philosophy Club

Under the supervision of Professor Maheshwar Singh, the Batch of 2025 has created the Philosophy Club to spread an appreciation for philosophy within the University and law schools in general. They have conducted various discussions on a host of fundamental philosophical texts and ideas, hosted lecture series by leading academics, disseminated easily accessible learning resources and notes, and much more. They also publish an Annual Newsletter, which contains a report of their activities and the best articles we received as entry submissions to their Blog.

Ongoing projects

- Death Penalty: Project 39A has undertaken three quantitative studies documenting gaps in the sentencing process at the trial court, High Court and Supreme Court level the results of which will be published in 2022. The team has begun work on a study of trial court judgements involving a conviction under section 302 IPC that resulted in a sentence of life imprisonment. Project 39A is also in the process of publishing an edited volume on the death penalty in India.

- Fair Trial Fellowship Programme: The Fair Trial Fellowship (FTF) supports lawyers empanelled with the DLSA Pune and DLSA Nagpur to provide legal representation to undertrials in Pune (Yerwada) and Nagpur Central Prisons. The Fellowship, offered to lawyers and social workers, was launched in January 2019. In 2020, the global pandemic severely restricted access to prisons. However, the team worked with the prisons and DLSA to identify at-risk inmates (women prisoners with children, aged inmates and those suffering from co-morbidities) and those entitled to interim bail under the High Powered Committee (HPC) guidelines. The fellowship had a total outreach of 1644 inmates at Pune and 1209 at Nagpur, as on December, 2021. The team has worked with empanelled legal-aid lawyers towards representing these inmates in trials and pre-trial proceedings. This includes 17 courts in Pune district and 18 courts in Nagpur district.
- Forensics: In August 2018, Project 39A began a quantitative and qualitative survey of the forensic science laboratories in India to examine the challenges that these laboratories are facing with respect to budget, case management, personnel, equipment and quality management. In 2021, based on the data analysed from the survey, the forensics team submitted an interim report along with recommendations to the Women Safety Division, Ministry of Home Affairs. Currently the team is working towards submitting the final report to the Ministry along with detailed recommendations on improving the forensic science ecosystem in India.
- The forensics team was invited to make written and oral submissions as part of an expert group to the Parliamentary Standing Committee on Science & Technology on the DNA Technology (Use And Application) Regulation Bill, 2019. The report of the Standing Committee was tabled before the Parliament in February, 2021.
- Further, Project 39A has created a 4 week course on forensic science and law in collaboration with Eleos Justice at Monash University. The course, which will be released in February 2022, will be hosted on Future Learn, a leading learning platform.
- Torture: A paper reviewing recent inter-disciplinary literature on torture and policing in India is underway. The team also conducted preliminary research and consultations, and conceptualised a pilot empirical study to monitor the implementation of a Supreme Court order directing installation of CCTV cameras in all police stations. This pilot study will be initiated in 2022.
- Legal Aid: A paper providing a quantitative analysis of utilisation of legal aid among undertrial prisoners has been approved for publication by Indian Law Review and will be printed in the journal in early 2022. The team has also undertaken an analysis of approximately 3000 Delhi Sessions Court bail orders towards documenting the gaps in decision-making in bail matters, which will be published in 2022.
- Mental Health and Criminal Justice: A doctrinal study on the insanity defence case law is underway for which over 200 High Court judgements (2010-2020) have been collated and are currently being analysed on various parameters. The team will be contributing to academic discourse on mental health and criminal justice on issues of competence to stand trial and the death penalty. In collaboration with Eleos Justice at Monash University, a 4-week course on Forensic Mental Health and Criminal Justice has been developed. It will be hosted on the online learning platform FutureLearn in February 2022. The mental health team also focuses on capacity building of stakeholders and contributes to and organises training workshops for the Delhi Judicial Academy.
- Assistance to court: Project 39A provides pro bono legal representation for death row prisoners across India. Since its inception, we have represented 130 prisoners in 169 cases across 18 states. Amongst the decided cases where Project 39A was involved, the death sentence was commuted for 33 prisoners and 6 prisoners were acquitted. Out of these, in 2021, Project 39A secured an acquittal for 3 prisoners sentenced to death and commutation of sentence to life imprisonment for 5 prisoners.

Administration

Our Committees & Cells

Legal Services Committee

The Legal Services Committee engages in various legal aid initiatives and activities that include para-legal volunteer training workshops, writing petitions, providing legal assistance to organisations like National Human Rights Commission (NHRC), conducting legal awareness and community outreach programs, and participating in client counselling and representing at court, alongside selected external lawyers. Functioning of the committee is undertaken by NLU Delhi's students under the guidance of faculty and other related authorities. Below are some of its initiatives:

The Legal Aid Clinic

The Legal Aid Clinic was established in November 2012 by National Law University, Delhi to pursue cases of people seeking legal counsel. In pursuit of this, the Committee has set up dedicated office space on the campus premises where the Legal Aid Clinic operates. The Clinic is managed by the 11 elected and nominated members of the Legal Services Committee. The Clinic has its own helpline number that is managed by the student members of the Committee on a rotation basis. The Clinic has an affiliation with the South West Delhi Legal Services Authority (DLSA-SW). The DLSA-SW sends a lawyer once every week. The Committee members fix appointments with the lawyer on behalf of the clients who call the helpline every week and help the lawyers with these cases along with helping clients in filing complaints, writing letters to various authorities, sending RTIs, applying for certificates online, etc. The Committee additionally refers the cases to lawyers other than the DLSA legal aid lawyers, who are involved in pro-bono lawyering. The Committee handles a wide range of cases including inter alia property and domestic violence, consumer issues, fraud and cheating, land disputes, matters related to sexual offences, motor vehicle accident matters, service matters etc.

Pro-Bono Panel

The Committee has been engaged in the process of constituting the Panel since November 2017. At present, there exists an informal panel which consists of lawyers like Mr. Jawahar Raja (Advocate, practising at the Supreme Court, Delhi High Court, and various courts and tribunals across Delhi), Mr. Deepak Biswas (Partner, Bharucha and Partners), Mr. Nipun Saxena (Advocate, practising at the Delhi High Court, and various courts and tribunals across Delhi) and Mr. Rohit (Advocate, practising at the Delhi High Court, and various courts and tribunals across Delhi). In 2021, five important cases were referred to the Pro Bono Panel by the Legal Aid Clinic and were actively followed up by the Committee members. The members of the Committee are actively participating in the process of client counselling and representation in court alongside these lawyers. The Legal Aid Committee is currently consulting NLU Delhi's Alumni base to constitute a formal pro-bono panel.

Pro-Bono cases undertaken from January 2021- December, 2021

- Filed a Domestic Violence Petition in collaboration with Wadhwa Chambers
- Filing protection for a same-sex couple taken by Advocate Rohit.
- Legal Advice on family dispute and domestic violence in Uttar Pradesh, under Mr. Nipun Saxena

The Committee has constituted an Advisory Panel of the faculty members of National Law University Delhi from various streams of law. This model can be replicated by other law schools facing a paucity of resources. This arrangement has helped us in giving immediate advice in cases where clients cannot wait for an entire week to meet the government lawyer. This Panel has also been helpful in providing and checking the content of our legal literacy and awareness materials.

Mohalla Legal Aid Clinic Project

The Legal Services Committee formulated the Mohalla Legal Aid Clinic, in collaboration with the Government of NCT of Delhi under the supervision of Dr. Anup Surendranath. The objective behind the Mohalla Legal Aid Clinic Project was to decentralize legal aid services and ensure wider access to justice for even the poorest citizens in the most marginalized areas.

Collaboration with Family Justice and Gender Rights Law Clinic, Jindal Global Law School

The Legal Services Committee, NLU Delhi was approached by students of Jindal Global Law School for the establishment of the Family Justice and Gender Rights Law Clinic. Thus, the clinic was founded upon four principles: legal advocacy, outreach, education and forming a robust activist network. The clinic functions as a legal aid center for people facing any form of discrimination due to their gender or any gender-related attribute and an information center concerning the rights of trans- gender and other non – binary and binary genders. It serves both individuals and organizations and works towards establishing and maintaining a network of Gender Rights and Advocacy groups across the country.

The Legal Aid Committee, National Law University helped Family Justice and Gender Rights Law Clinic, Jindal Global Law School to establish a pan-India NLU network for the implementation of Legal Aid on Family Justice and Gender Rights and collate a database of lawyers for pro bono legal assistance for cases of domestic violence and gender based violence.

Collaboration with the Legal Aid Centre, University of Lucknow

The Legal Services Committee, NLUD collaborated with the Legal Aid Centre, the University of Lucknow regarding a project on the rights of LGBTQIA+. The committee made a list of civil rights that are absent for LGBTQIA+ persons in law and mapped out possible areas where policy reformation is needed in order to lend equal treatment to LGBTQIA+ persons such as equal marriage rights, the revision of understanding kinship within indian laws, revisions in family law especially on succession, inheritance and the meaning of family in itself. It also deliberated on the intersection of privacy and proposed law reformation for LGBTQIA+ couples and measures to best protect them from familial violence and possible abuse.

Pro-Bono Club in collaboration with the Department of Justice

Free legal services for marginalised persons from registered Pro Bono Advocates, available on Nyaya Bandhu Mobile App. Nyaya Bandhu Mobile App allows marginalised persons (referred to as “Applicants”), seeking free legal services, to easily connect with registered Pro Bono Advocates. Nyaya Bandhu Mobile App is available in Hindi and English all over India. The Legal Services Committee organized a lecture series for students in the Pro Bono Club in order to train them on labour laws, domestic violence and family law, property law and constitutional law. The lecture series was instructed by lawyers like Advocate Malavika Rajkotia (Practising lawyer in Delhi High Court and Supreme Court), Advocate SK Mittal (Practising lawyer in Delhi High Court and lower courts).

Tihar Jail Project

The Legal Services Committee drafted the The Tihar Jail Project proposal with the objective to increase the availability of quality pro bono legal services to under trial prisoners, and to improve access and quality of legal aid to under trial prisoners. The project was initiated because despite the constitutional mandate and strong provisions for free legal aid services, a large number of under trial prisoners have limited or no access to lawyers. Additionally, the quality of legal aid provided is inadequate, records and registers are not maintained which obstructs smooth and efficient administration of free legal aid services to under trial prisoners. After a round of consultation with Ms. Gale Andrew (Associate, Legal Aid, P39A) and Dr. Anup Surendranath (Director, P39A) the project proposal is undergoing the second stage of revision.

LAAbH Foundation

The Legal Services Committee took up a joint project alongside the LAABh foundation. Legal Aid & Awareness for Bhartiya, or LAABh is a nonprofit organisation, aimed at generating blog articles on the theme of legal aid. The project seeks to enhance legal education and awareness.

The Curriculum Development Committee (CDC)

The mandate of the Curriculum Development Committee is to encourage the regular and periodic review of the curriculum to keep abreast with emerging developments in teaching and learning modules. The committee focuses on incorporating contemporary themes, issues, policies and landmark cases in the courses.

Online & Distance Learning Committee

On 14 June, 2021, National Law University Delhi, reconstituted the Online and Distance Learning Committee with Prof. Bharti as Convener.

Institutional Repository Committee

Institutional Repository Committee (IRC) at NLU Delhi serves as an archival committee that documents all events, activities, visits and consultations of which NLU Delhi is a part. The Committee serves as a record-keeping wing for the University.

Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC)

National Law University has an Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) which is an important institutional mechanism in the University to promote best practises and measures for quality assurance and enhancement of legal education. IQAC is a post-accreditation quality sustenance measure which is tasked to develop a system for conscious, consistent and catalytic improvement in the overall performance of the institution. It is constituted as per the mandate of National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC).

National Academic Depository (NAD)

National Academic Depository (NAD) is an initiative of the Ministry of Human Resources Development (MHRD), Government of India to facilitate digital issuance, storage, access and verification of academic awards issued by academic institutions. National Law University Delhi was one of the first universities in Delhi, to upload degrees and certificates within the prescribed time, in cooperation with Central Depository Services (India) Limited (CDSL).
